DETAILED ACTION

Examiner's Amendment

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The application has been amended as follows:

- (a) In claim 10, line 10, "the specified direction" has been changed to --a specified direction--.
- (b) In claim 10, line 14, "a specified direction" has been changed to --the specified direction--.

Allowable Subject Matter

- 2. Claims 1-28 are allowed.
- 3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

With regard to claim 1, the prior art does not teach in combination with all other limitations recited in the claim a first calculator for calculating reflection characteristic measurement values in correspondence with a plurality of illuminators, a storage device for storing an approximate function having an angle of an illuminating direction with respect to a reference direction as a variable in a condition that a direction symmetrical with a specified direction with respect to a center axis of a main body in parallel to a normal to an opening of the main body is defined as the reference direction, and having a plurality of undetermined coefficients including an angle of inclination of the center axis of the main body with respect to a normal to the surface of an object, and a second calculator for determining the undetermined coefficients and correcting the respective reflection characteristic measurement values using the approximate function whose undetermined coefficients are determined as set forth in the claim.

Claims 2-9 include all limitations set forth in claim 1.

With regard to claim 10, the prior art does not teach in combination with all other limitations recited in the claim a plurality of illuminators in a condition that a direction symmetrical with a specified direction with respect to a center axis of a main body in parallel to a normal to an opening of the main body is defined as a reference direction, first and second illuminators being provided in positions symmetrical with each other with respect to the reference direction, a light detector for detecting reflected light in the specified direction, and a calculator for calculating a reflection characteristic of an object corresponding to the first illuminator based on a sum of light detection signals corresponding to the first and second illuminators as set forth in the claim.

Claims 11-15 include all limitations set forth in claim 10.

With regard to claim 16, the prior art does not teach in combination with all other limitations recited in the claim a first calculator for calculating reflection characteristic measurement values in correspondence with a plurality of light detectors, a storage device for storing an approximate function having an angle of a light detecting direction with respect to a reference direction as a variable in a condition that a direction symmetrical with a specified direction with respect to a center axis of a main body in parallel to a normal to an opening of the main body is defined as the reference direction, and having a plurality of undetermined coefficients including an angle of inclination of the center axis of the main body with respect to a normal to the surface of an object, and a second calculator for determining the undetermined coefficients and correcting the respective reflection characteristic measurement values using the approximate function whose undetermined coefficients are determined as set forth in the claim.

Claims 17-24 include all limitations set forth in the claim 16.

With regard to claim 25, the prior art does not teach in combination with all other limitations recited in the claim a plurality of light detectors in a condition that a direction symmetrical with a specified direction with respect to a center axis of a main body in parallel to a normal to an opening of the main body is defined as a reference direction, first and second light detectors being provided in positions symmetrical with each other with respect to the reference direction, an illuminator for illuminating an object in the specified direction, and a calculator for calculating a reflection characteristic of the object corresponding to the first light detector based on a sum of light detection signals corresponding to the first and second light detectors as set forth in the claim.

Claims 26-28 include all limitations set forth in claim 25.

4. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
